JOURNAL OF THE HOUSE.

The one hundred and thirty-fifth General Court of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts convened at the State House in Boston on the first Wednesday in January, being the seventh day thereof, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and fourteen, and of the independence of the United States of America the one hundred and thirty-eighth.

And the members-elect of the House of Representatives, having assembled in the Representatives' Chamber, were called to order at five minutes past eleven o'clock A.M. by Mr. Winfield F. Prime of Winchester (member of the House in 1890 from the Charlestown district of Boston), the eldest senior member-elect present.

By request of the presiding officer prayer was offered by Reverend Frank W. Hodgdon of Winchester.

On motion of Mr. Kennard of Somerville, —

Ordered, That a committee of eight be appointed to inform the Secretary of the Commonwealth that the House has been called to order.

Mr. Kennard and Messrs. Lydon of Boston, Webster of Northfield, Worrall of Attleborough, Sanborn of Norwood, Lucke of Worcester, Doherty of Fall River and Burke of Cambridge were appointed the committee.

Mr. Kennard, for the committee, afterwards reported that they had attended to the duty assigned them, and that the Secretary was pleased to transmit to the House a list of all persons returned as representatives, with the original certificates of their election, which had been returned to his office.

The Secretary also transmitted a communication, which was read, stating that "No certificate of election having been received from the Sixth Middlesex Representative District, I transmit herewith two statements received at this office, — one signed by Charles T. Brooks, Edmund P. Brennan and Charles F. Pfeiffer, selectmen of the town of Natick, and by William O. Cutler, town clerk, who attests to the signatures only, — the other a statement of the record of votes cast, signed by Arthur W. Robinson and William O. Cutler, registrars of voters, with the statement that ‘The other two members of the Board of Registrars of Voters have refused to sign this return or a certificate of election.’” present.

Quorum

On motion of Mr. Cows of Amherst, —

Ordered, That the Clerk call the roll of the House to ascertain if a quorum is present.

The roll was called; and, two hundred and thirty-six members having been found to be in attendance, the Chair declared a quorum present.

Governor
notified.

On motion of Mr. Tufts of Waltham, —

Ordered, That a committee of eight be appointed to wait upon His Excellency the Governor and inform him that a quorum of the House is assembled, and that the members are ready to be qualified.

Mr. Tufts and Messrs. Robinson of Boston, Fessenden of Townsend, Casassa of Revere, Faulkner of Pittsfield, Streeter of Springfield, Edward F. McLaughlin of Boston and Sullivan of Quincy were appointed the committee.

Mr. Tufts, for the committee, afterwards reported that they had attended to the duty assigned them, and that His Excellency stated that he would attend forthwith and administer the oaths of office.

Members
qualified.

Soon afterwards His Excellency the Governor, the Councillors and the deputy Secretary of the Commonwealth came in; the oaths and affirmations required by the Constitution and the laws were administered by His Excellency to 238 members present, and subscribed by them; after which His Excellency declared that a quorum of the House was duly qualified to enter upon the discharge of its duties. His Excellency, the Councillors and the deputy Secretary then withdrew.

House rules.

Mr. Cox of Boston offered the following order: —

Ordered, That the rules of the House of Representatives of 1913 be observed as the rules of the present House, until others shall be adopted.

Mr. Tague of Boston moved that the order be amended by the substitution of the following order:—

Ordered, That, with the exception of Rules 20, 21 and 103, the rules of the House of Representatives of 1913 be observed as the rules of the present House, until others shall be adopted.

After debate the amendment was adopted; and the order, as amended, was adopted.

Mr. Beck of Chelsea moved that the House proceed to the election of a Speaker, and that the election be held in the following manner: The roll shall be called, and each member, in response to his name, shall give the name of the person for whom he votes.

The same member moved that the motion be amended by inserting before the word "give," the words "rise and."

After debate the amendment was adopted; and the motion, as amended, was adopted.

Met according to adjournment, at two o'clock P.M.

Prayer was offered by the Chaplain.

Message from the Governor.

The following message was received from His Excellency the Governor: —

THE COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, BOSTON, Feb. 11, 1914.

To the Honorable Senate and House of Representatives:

Message from the Governor, — reorganization of certain state departments.

In my inaugural address to your honorable bodies, I recommended that "there be established a central purchasing agency for all the state departments and institutions, and that careful study be given to plans for reorganization under a central administrative body, — a method of administration which has been adopted with marked success in several states with great saving to the public treasury."

I now have the honor to transmit to you a plan for the reorganization of certain state departments providing for a central board of control which has been prepared by the Commission on Economy and Efficiency, and which, in its essential particulars, meets the recommendation made in my inaugural. The report of this commission is entitled to your most careful consideration. It comes to you from that department of the state government which has been especially entrusted by the legislature with the duties and responsibilities of advising you on this particular problem and after study and investigation of state institutions covering a period of several months.

Chapter 719 of the Acts of 1912, creating the commission on economy and efficiency, defined among its other duties the following: "To inquire into the laws governing the financial transactions of the commonwealth and to study into the possibility of promoting greater economy and efficiency and utility in the transaction of the business of the commonwealth by any changes in such laws, by the reorganization, consolidation or co-ordination of departments and institutions, by different methods of administration" . . . "by organizing a central purchasing agency or department," . . . "and it shall report thereon from time to time to the governor and council and to the general court, if it is in session."

In the report herewith submitted, the commission finds after thorough investigation, that our present system of managing the institutions of the state is faulty and leads to waste and unnecessary expense, and recommends in the interest of economy and efficiency a complete reorganization of all the state activities in dealing with its institutions should be undertaken.

The sole issue presented to the legislature, therefore, is this:— Is it in the interest of a better and more economical management, and that means, is it in the interest of the taxpayers of the commonwealth,— that a change from the separate independent management of our state institutions should be made and in its stead a new system established providing for a central board of control?

The importance of this subject can be better realized by a consideration of the following statistics:

The number of members of boards, commissions and trustees which the report deals with and which this problem concerns is as follows:

Board of Insanity	5
Board of Charity	9
Prison Commission	5
Trustees under Board Insanity	89
Trustees under Board Charity	28
	<hr/>
	136

Number of inmates of institutions affected	22,120
Number of employees	4,537
Investment of state money to date in all these institutions	$24,453,016.59

These various departments and state institutions are now asking for an appropriation of $7,040,800, for maintenance during the year 1914.

Assuming the members of the commission to be honest and free from partisan bias or misdirected prejudice against the present management of these institutions, this report ought to make out a prima facie case in favor of the adoption of the recommendations made.

I do not undertake to point out to you in detail what reorganization plan should be finally agreed upon for before that question is reached there is a greater one which you must pass upon, namely, whether or not the state should depart from its present policy to that of a central board of control. When that is settled, I can foresee no serious differences as to details, and I have confidence that this legislature with the aid of the report before it will work out the necessary legislation along safe lines. If there is any field in the public service for the application of the principles of economy and efficiency here certainly is one, for the maintenance of our state institutions is the heaviest of all demands upon the public treasury; and we should see to it that there is such organization that the various managers, officers and employees shall at all times direct their work with a view to the strictest economy.

By a consolidation such as is recommended, our state institutions would become inter-related; their industrial activities could serve each other; a specialization of their industries incident to their penal and correctional functions could be introduced with economy and efficiency and the whole be managed and directed upon a general basis and policy. While the legislature is giving its attention to these recommendations, pending demands for development of state institutions calling for large appropriations of money for building and equipment should be held in abeyance.

Finally, I urge upon the legislature, which has in a most commendable way shown a determination to keep down to the very lowest point possible all new demands upon the state treasury, that it manifest the same spirit in weighing the recommendations made by this commission with a view to finding out whether or not a large saving may not be made in expenditures and more efficient management provided through a reorganization along the lines proposed of all the state agencies dealing with charitable, health and correctional problems. There is a widespread demand that public officials proceed cautiously with public expense that there may be prevented a revolt against the excessive burdens of government.

Section 5. Section sixty-seven of chapter one hundred and eighty-nine of the Revised Laws is hereby amended by striking out the words 'for travel and term fees, and such further amount,' in the fourth line, so that the same shall read as follows: Section 67. If a person who is summoned as a trustee in the supreme judicial court or the superior court appears and answers pursuant to the provisions of this chapter, he shall be allowed his costs for counsel fees and other necessary expenses as the court may allow. If he is so summoned in a police, district or municipal court, or before a trial justice, he shall be allowed the costs fixed by section twenty-eight of chapter two hundred and three. If there has been a trial between the plaintiff and the alleged trustee upon any issue of fact, the court may award costs to either party.

"Section 6. The provisions of this act shall not apply to any costs which shall have accrued in any pending action at the time this goes into effect.

"Section 7. This act shall take effect on the first day of July in the year nineteen hundred and fourteen."

The resolutions were as follows:—

Resolved, That The General Court of Massachusetts hereby protests against the passage by Congress of the Burnett-Dillingham Immigration Bill, so-called, which restricts the admission of persons desirous of becoming citizens of or residents in the United States, especially by imposing a test of the ability of the immigrant to read and write. The General Court believes that no person should be refused admission to this country who is physically, mentally and morally fit to become a citizen of the United States, and that any educational test would be misleading and oppressive and would tend to make the admission of the immigrant a matter not so much of his real worth and capacity as of the opportunities for education which he had happened to enjoy, or from which he had been debarred by circumstances.

Resolved, That copies of these resolutions be sent by the Secretary of the Commonwealth to the members of Congress from this Commonwealth, and to the presiding officer of each branch of Congress.

Sent up for concurrence.

Adding at the end of Rule 32 (formerly Rule 31) the words "No person shall be permitted to use such rooms or facilities who is not entitled to the privileges of the reporters' gallery of the Senate or of the House."

[The committees on Cities and Public Institutions were absent on official business.]

Mr. Lyle of Gloucester moved the previous question; which motion, after debate, was adopted.

Mr. Bothfeld asked for a count of the House to ascertain if a quorum was present. A count showed that 91 members were present.

Mr. Lyle moved that the House adjourn.

The question on adjournment was put, and the acting Speaker (Mr. Cox of Boston) announced that the vote was in the affirmative, declared the House adjourned, and left the chair.

Mr. Lomasney of Boston arose and addressed the members present, and criticized the action of the Chair.

The acting Speaker returned to the chair, and asked unanimous consent of the members present that his declaration with reference to adjournment be considered as not having been made. There was no objection.

Mr. Tague of Boston arose and addressed the Chair. The acting Speaker asked Mr. Tague if he objected. Mr. Tague stated that he arose to ascertain what question was before the House. The acting Speaker stated that the vote on adjournment as announced by the Chair was open to doubt.

Point of order. Mr. Lomasney raised the point of order that the action of the Chair was not in order, and asked the Chair to point out the rule by which he was authorized to reconvene the House after he had declared an adjournment. The Chair stated that there was no rule covering the matter, but that he had asked the unanimous consent of the members present, in order that his declaration of the vote on adjournment might be doubted; and there had been no objection.

Mr. Lomasney then objected. The acting Speaker declared that the objection came too late.

Mr. Lomasney appealed from the ruling of the Chair; and the appeal was seconded by Mr. Donovan of Boston.

After debate Mr. Lomasney questioned the presence of a quorum, and moved that the roll be called to ascertainment if a quorum was present; which motion was adopted.

Mr. Bothfeld moved that the provisions of the order requiring the Speaker to declare an adjournment at half-past four o'clock be suspended.

Point of order.

Mr. Twohig of Boston raised the point of order that this motion was not in order, as, under House Rule No. 94, no other business was in order until the question on the appeal had been disposed of.

The acting Speaker declared the point of order not well taken.

Pending the question "Shall the decision of the Chair stand as the judgment of the House,"—

At twenty-seven minutes before five o'clock, the acting Speaker declared the House adjourned, to meet on Monday next at two o'clock P.M.

Met according to adjournment, at two o'clock P.M.

Message from the Governor.

The following message was received from His Excellency the Governor: —

THE COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, BOSTON, March 3, 1914.

To the Honorable Senate and House of Representatives.

Message from the Governor,— distribution of corporate franchise taxes.

Among the recommendations relating to taxation and State finances in my inaugural address was one for legislation providing for a change in the distribution of corporate franchise taxes paid by certain classes of corporations. I deem this question of such importance that I desire to supplement the necessarily limited argument made in the address referred to, and again urge upon you the necessity of the adoption of this change in our taxation system.

Concisely stated, I recommend: —

1. That the corporate franchise taxes paid into the treasury of the Commonwealth by railroad, telephone and telegraph companies and trust companies be retained by the Commonwealth instead of being distributed to cities and towns in proportion to the residence of share owners.

2. That the franchise taxes of gas and electric light companies, except such portion thereof as corresponds to the shares of the capital stock owned by non-residents of Massachusetts, be distributed to the cities and towns where the property of the gas and electric light companies is located instead of being distributed to the cities and towns where the stockholders reside. If the first recommendation is enacted into law there would result a very material addition to the revenue of the Commonwealth; had the law proposed been in operation in 1913 it would have been possible to have a State tax of approximately $6,400,000 instead of $8,000,000, — for the amount paid by railroad, telephone and telegraph companies and trust companies which was distributed to cities and towns was $1,602,171.93.

If the second recommendation is enacted into law the revenue of the Commonwealth will in no way be affected; it merely provides a different method of distributing to cities and towns that part of the taxes paid by gas and electric light corporations. The same amount would be distributed as was distributed last year, but it would not be distributed to cities and towns where the stockholders reside.

The reasons for urging the first recommendation herein made are: —

1. The present method of distribution is entirely artificial and cannot be defended upon any sound theory.

2. In practically no other State is such a method of distribution employed.

3. All tax authorities condemn the present method of distribution.

4. It serves to accentuate low tax rates in wealthy municipalities and high tax rates in poor municipalities, — thus causing inequalities and injustices between municipalities.

5. Railroad, telephone and telegraph companies are State-wide, rather than local in character; their franchises come from the State government and not from the communities where their stockholders live; and the whole State which grants the franchise to these companies, rather than certain communities, should receive the benefit of their franchise taxes.

The reason for the second recommendation is: — that gas and electric light companies are local, rather than State-wide in character, and therefore the benefit of their corporate franchise taxes should be given to the communities in which these properties rather than their stockholders, are located.

The history of our legislation on this subject is instructive and interesting. In 1864, at the time of the establishment of our system of corporate franchise taxation, distribution for all classes of corporations was in accordance with the residence of share ownership.

The theory upon which this method of distribution was based was that single shares of stock should be considered as an individual piece of property, irrespective of any facts as to the location or field of activity of the corporation issuing it and as such should carry its tax benefits to the residence of its owner.

That law recognized neither the principle that State-wide extension of corporate activity called for State-wide participation in taxes paid, nor the principle that merely local corporate activity should determine participation in taxes.

In the year 1898 the first departure from the method of distribution established in 1864 was made by Section 4, Chapter 578. This act provided that corporate franchise taxes paid by street railway companies should be distributed to cities and towns where the tracks were located in proportion to the mileage thereof,—in other words, that the location of the property rather than the residence of the share owner should control the distribution. Again, in 1910, by Chapter 456, the same principle was extended to domestic business (manufacturing and mercantile) corporations.

Thus, we have at the present time two systems in Massachusetts for the distribution of corporate franchise taxes. Under the system established by the laws of 1898 and 1910, which provided for a distribution on the basis of the property location, 64.27% of all corporate franchise taxes distributed last year, fall under this rule.

From this review of our legislation we are led to these conclusions:—

1. That share ownership is not now the general rule in Massachusetts for the distribution of franchise taxes, and,
2. That location of property has become the basis for the distribution of franchise taxes in those classes of corporations which are in general local in character.

Why should not the one remaining class of corporation franchise taxes, local in character,—viz., gas and electric light companies, be distributed in the same manner as provided in the principle adopted for street railway and domestic business corporations? Are not gas and electric light corporations just as much local in character as street railways and domestic business corporations? If so, on what sound theory can we continue to distribute the franchise tax of gas and electric light companies on the basis of share ownership?

More illuminating still is a consideration of the only other remaining class of corporation franchise taxes, namely, railroads, telephone and telegraph companies and trust companies. These corporations are not local; their activities and business are inter-municipal and to a greater or lesser degree State-wide. Why should not the whole State share in corporate franchise taxes paid by them? It is inequitable and unjustifiable that various cities and towns should benefit largely by taxes paid by these State-wide corporations because of the mere fact of residence of share owners, while other cities and towns more closely related to the business of these corporations should receive no benefit from their taxes solely because no share owners happen to reside in those municipalities.

A reform in the system of distributing this corporate franchise tax is urged, therefore, because the present method makes an unfair discrimination between municipalities. If the State retained these taxes every municipality would be benefited by a smaller State tax. A table prepared in the office of the Tax Commissioner and annexed hereto shows:

1. That in Boston and Worcester, the valuations of which cities are nearly 38% of the total valuation of the State, the tax rate of 1913, if the recommendation suggested had been the law, would have been increased two cents. This means that no increase would have been necessary, since the amount involved in a tax rate of two cents on the thousand is so small as to be negligible in these two cities.

2. The highest municipal tax rate in the State was $27.60, — had the proposed law been in operation, it would have been $27.09.

3. The lowest tax rate was $3.00 — had the proposed law been in operation, it would have been $3.52.

4. Eleven towns had a tax rate lower than $10.00 — had the proposed law been in operation, eight towns would have had rates below $10 and in these eight the rates would have been somewhat higher than they were, a desired result, and more than $23,000,000 worth of property which was taxed at rates below $10 would have been taxed at rates higher than this amount.

5. There were 16 cities and 87 towns having a tax rate of between $20 and $27.60, — had the proposed law been in operation, only 14 of such cities and 72 towns would have had rates in excess of $20, and therefore $172,000,000 of property which was taxed at rates in excess of $20 would have been relieved of a part of its unjust burden.

6. The tax rate in 239 cities and towns was between $10 and $20; there would have been 259 of these cities and towns, had the proposed law been in operation, and these 20 more cities and towns would have had rates nearer the average.

Examining these tables from another viewpoint, we learn that: —

1. In five cities and 84 towns the tax rate would have been increased from an average of $14.98 to an average of $15.64; that in 27 cities and 231 towns the tax rate would have been decreased from an average of $18.24 to an average of $17.91; that in one city and 5 towns there would have been no change in the tax rate.

2. With few exceptions the cities and towns benefited are those where both assessments and tax rates are high.

3. Nearly every manufacturing community, — where the burdens of taxation bear heaviest and the expenses of maintaining schools, highways, fire and police departments and providing for the poor are greatest — will be the gainer.

4. The cities and towns which will be adversely affected are those where tax assessments are frequently low and wherein also much personal property is not assessed at all.

It is my firm conviction that the recommendations herein made, if enacted into law, will be a long step towards equalization of taxation between municipalities and that the entire property of the Commonwealth will more nearly than at present be proportionately taxed. In a word the result will be this, — property under low rated assessment would be more adequately rated and high-rated assessed property would be taxed at lower rates.

Let this Legislature end a system of distributing our corporation franchise tax that gives unmerited benefit to some of our wealthy municipalities and at the same time thereby imposes undue burden on some of the poorer cities and towns.

Hereto annexed, with the table referred to, is the draft of a bill which embodies my recommendations on this subject.

DAVID I. WALSH.

Ordered, That the House of Representatives hereby protests against the attempt to repeal any provisions of law which exempt American coast-wise vessels from the payment of any toll charges for passage through the Panama Canal.

The report was then accepted. Sent up for concurrence.

The Bill to abolish oaths and certifications of signers of nomination papers (House, No. 2216) was considered; and after debate, the hour of quarter past twelve o'clock having arrived, the House proceeded to the consideration of the following Special Assignment.

Panama Canal,
 — tolls.

Whereas, National honor, dignity and integrity demand that American coast-wise shipping vessels be given the privilege of passing through the Panama Canal without payment of toll charges; and

Whereas, It appears that this is only fair and just in view of the fact that for more than a century various nations of the civilized world have failed in their efforts to construct a canal between the Atlantic and Pacific oceans; and

Whereas, The United States has expended over four hundred million dollars in the construction of said canal; and

Whereas, The accomplishment is due to the energy and ingenuity of the citizens of this country alone; therefore be it

Ordered, That the House of Representatives hereby protests against the attempt to repeal any provisions of law which exempt American coast-wise vessels from the payment of any toll charges for passage through the Panama Canal.

Ordered, That the Secretary of the Commonwealth be requested to send copies of this order to the presiding officers of both branches in Congress and to each of the senators and representatives from Massachusetts.

After debate Mr. Lomasney of Boston asked for a count of the House to ascertain if a quorum was present. A count showed that 120 members were present.

On motion of the same member the Sergeant-at-Arms was instructed to secure the attendance of a quorum.

On the appearance of a quorum Mr. White of Newton moved that the order be amended in the first paragraph of the preamble by inserting after the word "charges," in line 4, the words "unless the United States shall grant a subsidy to such coast-wise shipping vessels equal to the amount of such toll charges."

Mr. Chamberlain of Springfield moved that the order be amended as follows:—

By striking out the first four paragraphs of the preamble, and inserting in place thereof the following: "Whereas, National honor, dignity and integrity demand that the United States shall stand by its agreement; therefore be it;"

In the first paragraph of the order by striking out, in line 2, the words "the attempt to repeal;" and

By striking out the second paragraph of the order.

After further debate, the previous question having been ordered, on motion of Mr. Caro of Chelsea, the amendments were severally rejected.

On the main question the yeas and nays were ordered, at the request of Mr. Lomasney; and the roll having been called the House refused to adopt the order. The vote was 91 yeas to 105 nays, as follows:—
